Welcome to The Building Fund Quarterly News

It is certainly fall in Chicago as The Building Fund begins an exciting new venture to build a community center at The Young Apostles International School. We are happy to announce a new partnership with Architecture for Humanity and introduce our new fall interns, as well as new features on our website. We hope that you will take a look around our new site and learn more about the work that we are doing! As we move forward with our new projects we hope that you will consider making a donation to The Building Fund. Donations of all sizes help us do our work better and we hope that you will consider making a donation this season.

Best,
Jessyca Dudley, Founder

TBF partners with Architecture for Humanity

TBF is excited to announce a new partnership with Architecture for Humanity! The partnership will provide TBF with the opportunity to collaborate with Chicago area architects to draw plans for a community center housing a library, health center and public meeting space at The Young Apostles International School. We hope that you enjoy the new features!!

Meet our Interns

The Building Fund is excited to introduce our fall interns Shaunna MacLeod and Christine Buckley. This fall our interns will be working to build our network and find funding opportunities for the community center being built at The Young Apostles International School. We look forward to having them join our team!

Shaunna MacLeod

Shaunna MacLeod is excited to join the Building Fund as a Development Intern. Shaunna graduated from the University of Toronto with a degree in psychology in 2002. She moved to Chicago to take a research position with the University of Illinois at Chicago where she earned her MEd., and worked on projects focused on strengthening the literacy skills of urban children. From these experiences she understands that knowledge and access to education give children a powerful voice, and wishes to help more children find their voice by volunteering with the Building Fund.

Christine Buckley

Christine Buckley has long been interested in international development issues. After graduating Vassar College, she worked at Doctors of the World in New York City before joining the Peace Corps and serving in Morocco from 2001-2003. She is currently studying for a Master's Degree in Public Policy at Northwestern University.
